What is Vanpool?

Just 5 or more people—including 2 volunteer drivers and a bookkeeper who share a similar origin, destination and work schedule—are needed to form a Vanpool. Each group decides their own routes, schedules and pickup/drop-off locations.

Multiple vehicle sizes are available to best fit your needs and work schedule. And our Metro team is here to help you at every step—and mile—along your Vanpool journey!

What you should know:

Metro Flex is an on-demand flexible service that connects people to and from points within a specified service area.

The map shows a proposed, pilot service area to be tested for two years as part of the East Link Connections proposed bus network.

It would provide another option for people to connect to transit and community points of interest where buses may be available or easy to reach.

The map shows the proposed service area.

To learn more about how on-demand flexible service currently operates in King County, visit this webpage.

- Serving the highlighted area of the Crossroads part of Bellevue. Connections to Overlake P&R as well as the Overlake Village Light Rail station.
- To book a ride download the MetroFlex App. You will need to enter your ORCA Card number or credit card to use.
- If asked you should tap on the card reader in the van, this will complete the ride and isn't a second charge.
